MEDICINE POLICE PLAN RAID ON WALL STE SURGERY.

Avoid the Deadly Knife and Keep From 'Neath the Gloomy Shadows of the Sanitarium and Hospital.

Varicocele and Stricture Can Be Cured Without the Horrors of Surgery, and Dr. Cook Does the Work.

Nervo - Sexual Debility and Specific Blood Poison and the brokers of presumed respectability, who make a practice of "wash" sales and Treated by the Best Methods Known to Medical Science.

(W. A. COOK, M. D.)

It is unfortunate for the afflicted that so many physicians place their patients in private sanitariums and hospitals to undergo surgical operations that are exceedingly distressing, dangerous and detaining from home and business, when their cases can be cured to stay cured by modern methods that are much milder and far more effective.

While my patients can always depend upon the most careful and successful surgical work when they demand it, or when the case is such that it is absolutely required in order to bring about a cure. I have constantly endeavored, throughout all the years of my practice, to so perfect my methods of treatment that a cure could be brought about without the ald of the knife.

It is comparatively easy to cut out any offending portion of the human body, but a operation of this kind means a loss to the patient which can never be restored, you have a sore on your hand, a surgeon can cure it by cutting off the hand, but when the sore is the skill of him who cures the sore and leaves the hand for furre usefulness.

It was this view of surgery and medicine that led me to perfect a method for treating Varicoccie and Stricture which, without cutting or byrning, or any other form of operation, cures the disease and restores the organs to helr natural healthy condition. My system of treatment for both Varicoccie and Stricture is the only one which cures without operation; this system originated with me and is used exclusively in my practice. The records of my office show cures, by this method, in 97 per cent of all cases taken.

In Varicoccie, by means of my treatment, the engorged blood vessels are reduced their natural state and the organs which they supply are restored to a condition health and full usefulness. The method is painless and requires no loss of time

In Stricture my treatment removes the obstruction without any pain or discomfort, simply by the remedies which the patient himself applies at home.

Without the use of those dangerous drugs which enter into the remedies given by most doctors, and which leave such terrible after effects, I cure all stages of Specific Blood Poisoning thoroughly and permanently—not only the outward manifestations, but I rid the whole system of every vestige of the poison, leaving the skin and scalp in a clear, healthy, natural condition.

In Nervo-Sexual disorders, I have also, as is well known to the medical profession generally, made great advancement over the old-time methods, and never mind how long the undermining conditions have been active, I can promise a complete and permanent restoration to health and of all lost powers. I do not seek simply to temporarily stimulate the weakened, nervous and physical system—which, I am sorry to say, is the method of most so-called specialists—but to permanently build up the whole constitution of the patient and at the same time remove the underlying causes.

Whenever it is possible to do so, I am very desirous of having the patient call at my office for a personal interview. If living away from the city, I will deduct the railroad fare paid from my regular fee. If you cannot call write your troubles fully. Many cases can be cured at home. Hours: 8 A. M. to 8 P.M. Sunday, 10 A. M. to 1 P. M. Address

COOLIE DIRT-EATERS.

Strange Habit of Many Natives of the West Indies.

You can't convince the coolle of the Granadine Islands, West Indies, that there is any harm in eating dirt. His own dis-eases ought to convince him, but they don't. The rest of their diet is simple and meager. For the most part they are vegetarians. They eat rice, pease, curry and ghee, a specially prepared butter in great use. Most professing vegetarians do not exclude from their diet milk and eggs, but these coolies will not touch either, except when they are in hospital and forced to do so. To hard workers in the cane fields under a scorening tropical sun such a frugal diet cannot be lie patients in the English hospitals of Coolie patients in the English hospitals of Carriacou, one of the Grenadine Islands, frequently are found to have gravel hidden in their clothing, and they cry and beg for it, like the morphine cater for his dope. This stuff which they eat is a soft, slate-colored or graylsh stone. Sometimes the pulverised dirt is made into cakes. If there isn't much of this to be had, the coolies cat rags, paper and coke.

A coolie who is well along in the art of dirt-eating is swollen all over the body, and the muscles of his lerg are tense. His face is puffy and has a distressing look of weariness and promature age. He is short of breath, and is unable to speak, so that he has to make signs to indicate his condition. His tongue is swollen and flabby and lies in the floor of his mouth, from which he cannot raise it, from pure weakness. It is marked strongly with impressions of the teeth. He has severe headaches, dimness of sight and pains in the abdomen. His skin is thin flabby and lacking of firmness, and even in the case of children feels like the skin of an aged person. The complexion is pasty.

But to have the diseases incident te dirtuating it is not necessary to eat dirt intentionally. Laborers in the fields, who rarely but to nave the diseases incident to dirticating it is not necessary to eat dirt intentionally. Laborers in the fields, who rarely wash their hands, have been known to take snough dirt into their stomach by handling their food with their unwashed hands to acquire all the file which afflict those who eat dirt because they like it.

Our Great FREE ELIJAH N. SAMPSON DIES OF APOPLEXY.

Prominent in Mercantile Circles-Father of Clark H. Sampson -Funeral To-Morrow.

Elijah N. Sampson, well known in mercantile circles of St. Louis, died Friday night at 11:30 o'clock at the home of his son, Clark H. Sampson of No. 3835 Westminster place, aged 78 years. The death of Mr. Sampson, though rather sudden, was not entirely unexpected. He returned to the city six weeks ago, after an absence of nearly a year in the East. Three weeks ago he suffered an apoplectic stroke, from which he railied with difficulty. A few days ago he suffered a recurrence of the attack, and Saturday night received a third stroke, which resulted in his death.

Mr. Sampson was born at New Salem, supposed to be productive of health or robustness. And when to this sort of food is added the luxury of dirt-eating, it is no wonder that these coolies are bloodiess and stiff jointed. These ills are characteristic of ess. He was one of the foremost citizens of Northampton and held several important offices under the State Government. In 1883 be came to St. Louis, where his sons, Clark
H. and William H. Sampson, had located.
Since coming to St. Louis he had been ussociated with the Corticelli Silk Company, of which his son, Clark H. Sampson, is closely identified. He was married in 1848 to Miss Agnes Hubbard of Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Agnes Hubbard of Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Sampson died in 1893. Three children survive him—Clark H. Sampson of No. 3895 Westminster place, Mrs. Agnes Thomas of No. 3107 Morgan street, and William H. Sampson, formerly a member of the St. Louis har, but who is now engaged in business at Cincinnati. A sister, Mrs. Jeremiah Smith, resides at New Haven, Conn.

JUST AS GOOD.

Increasing Number of Dishonest Failures Has Aroused New York Authorities.

WASH-SALE BROKERS WANTED.

Under the System in Vogue the Dealer Is Said to Use Customer's Money in Betting That Speculator Loses.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

New York, Nov. 24.-Detectives are preparing to make raids in Wall street within a few days. The District Attorney has ordered a crusade against the bucketshops who are deemed more dangerous to the community than the outlaws who do not pretend to have any dealings with the ex-

This move is to be made as a result of the many failures that followed the general rise in stocks after election. As the profits of their customers accumulated, brokers began to go to the wall. In almost every case there were large liabilities and the assets amounted to very little, usually nothing beyond the problematical value of the office fixtures. Many small speculators have been reduced to destitution by the loss of Dishonest Assignments.

Investigation has proved that a large proportion of the failures have been dishonest. If the orders for purchasing stocks were ever executed they were nothing more than "wash" transactions, purchases and sales made simultaneously and at the same sales made simultaneously and at the same rate, merely for the purpose of record. These "wash" deals are entered in the books in such a manner that they apparent-ly show legislative holdings of stock, while, ly show legislative holdings of stock, while, in reality, the broker has nothing, and merely gambles that his customers will lose. If they do, he makes everything; if they win too much he canot pay. A rising market means profits for the small operators, who are very rarely short. ators, who are very rarely short.

One of the leading bankers in this city consulted a member of the District Attorney's staff to-day and made the astonishing statement that if prices had been made to go up for four weeks as they had for the week after election, fully one-half of the brokers doing business on the Consolidated Exchange would have had to suspend, and Wall street would have been lined with wrecks.

Hopes to Head Off Failures. So serious is the condition deemed that Captain McCiusky, Chief of the Detective Bureau, has been instructed to make a thorough investigation, and to proceed against all brokers against whom he can obtain evidence of tregularities. He says he hopes to be able to make out cases he hopes to be able to make out cases against several men before they have a chance to assign. "There are many firms in Wall street that do a fraudulent business," said Captain Mc-Clusky. "They spring up like mushrooms. and it seems almost impossible to clos them, for as soon as a demand is made for money they fail and go away. The mem-bers of Hooper & Co, disappeared after their recent failure. Lawrence failed when a demand was made for $1,000. I think, however, that the arrest of Lawrence and his associates will have the effect of scaring similar firms in the street."

Chester B. Lawrence, Jr., Edward B. Un-derhili and George R. Wolbert, who were arrested on Friday, after Lawrence had nade an assignment to Wolbert, his bookkeeper, were arraigned in the Center Street | Reeper, were arraigned in the Center Street Police Court to-day. Magistrate Zeller Increased their bail to $5,000. Friends furnished the necessary bonds and the men were released. The complainant in this case is Mrs. Catherine Rouckendorff, who invest-ed $3,000 through Lawrence, for which no ccounting could be had. Lawrence did a large business and maintained several offices. The evidence goes to show that he "bucketed" most of the orders of his customers, winning their money consistently until recently, when the con-tinued advance in prices forced him to the
